Asian Digital Media Awards 2016

These awards, jointly presented by Google and WAN-IFRA, the World association of newspapers and news publishers, recognise publishers who have adopted digital media and mobile strategies as part of their total product offering to meet the major changes in how people consume news and information today.

1

A. Best News Website B. Best Lifestyle Website

Entries must demonstrate a strong content quality, consistency through interactivity with users and evidence of the publishing company's commitment to running the service and offering value to readers and advertisers. Innovative design, the use of multimedia technology (such as audio, video, podcast, graphics, photography, etc) enhancing the art of visual storytelling online, ease of navigation, speed of downloads and the site's overall organisation will equally be taken into consideration.

Eligibility

Any news or any lifestyle and entertainment website which is currently running at the time of judging or that has been running between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016 may apply.

2

Best Digital Advertising Campaign

This category honours a media house's ability to offer added-value to its readers/users and advertisers through publishing or advertising on several media channels. Entries should demonstrate an effective use of each media platform's specificity as well as a coherent management of their complementarities for servicing the readers and advertisers with the best media experience possible.

Eligibility

Entries must consist of editorial coverage or an advertising campaign published between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016 on at least 2 media channels.

3

Best Online Video

This award category is opened to news media and wire services as well as to freelancers working for these media who are creating original video news contents.

The jury will recognise the video's narrative qualities and its originality of perception and treatment. It will take into account the video's ability to relate a story in a concise and objective way and its capacity to expand knowledge or understanding of an issue through an effective use of the medium. The technical quality of the shooting and realisation as well as the possible emotional and aesthetic impact of the video will also be taken into consideration.

Best Data Visualisation Project

This award category aims to recognise excellence in design, usefulness and clarity of information conveyed on online graphics, in both breaking news and non-breaking news, information and entertainment. Special attention is paid to the creativity and effectiveness in the use of the medium's specificities such as interactivity and visual impact.

Eligibility

Entries for categories 3 and 4, for online video and for data visualization, must have been posted online between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016.

A. Best News Mobile Service B. Best Lifestyle Mobile Service

This category will honour the best and most innovative services offered by a publisher on a mobile platform. It can consist in either in a news mobile service or in a lifestyle, entertainment or utilities mobile service. The jury will evaluate the quality and originality of the services offered, the ease of registration, access and navigation and the coherence of the offer with the publication's mission and brand.

Eligibility

All mobile services operated by a media company between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016 on any kind of mobile platform (App, SMS, MMS, mobile search, mobile site, downloadable client, video, etc.) may apply.

6

Best in Tablet Publishing

The jury will assess the capacity of publications to embrace the tablet platform and to create applications that make full use of the device's specific features. Judges will pay special attention to the news product design and ease of navigation. The relevancy of the type of content offered and the richness of the media experience (use of video and interactive features) will also be key criteria of evaluation.

Eligibility

Entries must consist of tablet news products currently running or that have been offered between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016.

7

Best Reader Engagement

Social networking is one of Asia's favourite pastimes online. It offers news publishers an opportunity to engage with new audiences, to interact and create a bond with their readers and to make their brand relevant in the new media world.

The jury will evaluate the originality of the offering, the level of users' engagement and the complementarities of the campaign or service with the media company's main products.

Eligibility

All newspaper and magazine publishing houses which used social media or other digital platforms to increase their audience engagement between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016 are eligible to participate.

8

Best New Product

Publishing houses experiment nowadays with a whole array of new products to broaden their services, in a truly attempt to better serve their communities.

This category focuses on any sort of new products developed for any digital platform. Entries offering a comprehensive e-commerce component will receive a special attention from the jury.

Eligibility

All newspaper and magazine publishing houses which have implemented a new product between 25 May 2015 and 15 June 2016 are eligible to participate.
